Mission- Department of Defense Workers have always been committed to the mission and have endured with every challenge and demand that is presented in order to accomplish such important mission in support of our military and our country. Most of our jobs require special skills that come from military service experience or many years of developing our federal workers. The NSPS will only create more distractions and concerns that may hurt the mission. When employees are more concerned about pay increases, not being able to negotiate on working conditions and quality of life at work, this creates an uncomfortable feeling of being neglected or forgotten.

Pay for Performance- it is not fair to ask our supervisors/managers to decide pay raises and cost of living increases. The human factor will sooner or later take over and pay raises will be decided on not who is the best performer, is just who do I like the best.

Veterans Rights- veterans should continue to be entitled to veteran's preference for hiring and RIF's procedures.

Additional Comments

PLEASE TAKE ALL these ISSUES INTO CONSIDERATION. OUR FEDERAL WORKERS ARE VERY SKILLED AND perform diligently every day. The NSPS IF NOT properly implemented and RIGHTS ARE eliminated may create many problems and DISRUPT our workforce.

Sincerely,
